Introduction

There are 1947 Correspondence Register Subject Numbers (CRSN) within Accession 1156 Item C 48, each with correspondence abstracts.

Each subject has a different sequential number on the left head of a page (or mid-page where one page has two subjects). The subject of each CRSN is at the right head of a page (or section of a page). A place of 'origin' for the first of the correspondence abstracts of each subject is placed next to the CRSN — though the place so written often has little significance for the ensuing correspondence.

The CRSN commence at 4366 and conclude at 6299 — an apparent total of 1934 headings. However 11 numbers are repeated, marked with an "a" in the original (in this Index as A) and the numbers of three of six cancelled CRSN are re-used (marked in this Index as C). CRSN 5091 is omitted, apparently in error. These modifications result in a total of 1947 CRSN.

The subjects relate to matters that came within the purview of the Comptroller-General of Convicts: matters outside his jurisdiction are not shown in C 48. Consequently letter abstracts do not show all the material relating to any subject matter, particularly in the case of persons. For example, the correspondence abstracts of a CRSN for an individual may first record the granting of a Conditional Pardon, but the next entry (some time later) may be a request for a Ticket of Leave. The events leading to the loss of the Conditional Pardon and re-entry to the supervision of the Convict Establishment are not recorded — belonging to the Police or legal areas.

Subjects that are not persons are listed in the Subject Index on page 6.

Subjects that are a person (or persons) are placed within the Names Index on page 59 (and not in the Subject Index). In the Persons Index the CRSN of person 'subjects' are in Bold Type — to distinguish them from those persons whose names appear in letter abstracts, but are not the subject. Such 'appearances' are shown in plain type.

Consequently the Persons Index displays individuals with CRSN in both bold and plain type, showing such persons to be in the Correspondence Register as a Subject (in bold) and also mentioned in abstract/s of correspondence (in normal type). Only one number entry (in bold or plain type) is given for each person, though a name may be entered several times in the letter abstracts of a CRSN.

Each of the 1947 CRSN lists the persons between whom letters are exchanged, the date of each and an abstract of the letter concerned. These interchanges of letters are 'grouped' with a sequential number: these internal sequence numbers are not used in the Index. Where names are listed in the letter interchange column they are given in the Names Index. Titles are not indexed.

The C 48 Correspondence Register commences on 22 October 1864. Some CRSN comprise the abstract of a single letter. By contrast, many CRSN cover a number of years (the maximum being 35 years), and are written over several pages, with total abstracts exceeding 100.

Given the sheer volume of letter abstracts, many of which are requests for basic information and a response thereto, an index reference to every abstract would make the Index unwieldy in size, as well as involving much material of minor significance. To keep the Index of reasonable size, the Theme-topic Index (page 30) has required choice of material, inevitably a subjective one. Consequently the Theme-topic Index comprises an informed selection from the total material in the abstracts, chosen (hopefully) to guide to and reflect all the important matters, events and issues.

Unfortunately the writing of the clerks entering the abstract entries is very poor in many instances, at times verging on the impossible and great care needs be exercised in deciphering the writing.

Subjects, especially those not of persons, are not always followed by abstracts that reflect the initial Subject. After a single or a few entries a new (not clearly related) matter may be introduced and be continued. However, the Theme-topic index (page 30) enables these different matters to be found.

Locations Index

This Index lists all the locations mentioned in the headings and correspondence abstracts.

The CSR numbers in bold type are 'place of origin' numbers at the head of an abstracts list — see Introduction.

CSR numbers in plain type are places to which reference is made in the abstracts including the correspondence 'from' and 'to' sections.

In any abstracts series under a CRSN, a Location may be written more than once but only one reference is made below.

Names Index

Titles without names have not been indexed.

Many names within the CRSN lack initials or given names. Idiosyncratic spelling and poor writing add to identification difficulties. Initials and convict RN (Register Numbers) have been ascribed where possible, though most RN are given in the CRSN abstracts.

Local convicts did not always receive an RN — possibly depending on the nature of the offence.

Where the abstracts refer to a local convict this is shown in the Index below.

The frequent errors of spelling, initials and RN have been corrected where possible.

Names in italics are those who appear to be convicts or prisoners.

CR Subject Numbers in bold indicate a person is the subject for the abstract entries of the Number.

CR Subject Numbers in plain type indicate a person is named in the abstracts of the Number.

Consequently a name with a CRSN/s below may may be given in both normal and bold type.

Names may be mentioned more than once in any abstract series but only one entry is made below.

Absence of initials or convict RN means identification is uncertain or unknown without further enquiry.

All identifications should be carefully checked. Especially the same name having an entry with initials and an entry without them.

Names with an * are included in Barker, J (see page 106).
